Editor Roundabout:

DEAR Sir: I had in ended to answer Mr.Crutcher last week, but as he had us a suffering from the consequent drain upon it, I thought I would "give him a rest." Mr. Editor, it is perfectly evident that Mr. C. never saw the order-book of our County Court or he certainly could not have made the assertion that we had besued bonds to bear eight per cent. Interest.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

No such bonds have ever been, or have the same been proposed to be, issued; but we dld agree to pay eight per cent. on the outstanding debt of the county up to and including 1884. Now, sir, as Mr. Crutcher has succeeded in his evident purpose of getting his name in print, and has shown himself capable of being placed in the same position that Joe Blackburn was when Ed. Marshall compared him to a hilly goat, I decline a further discussion of the matter of a new jail.

A Cripple Restored.

Some two years ago I received a boy (Lona White) into the Orphans' Home, near Macon, from Columbus. He was one of the poorest creatures I have ever seen—nothing but skin and bone—crippled and deformed by scrofula, which had attended him from his hirth. About eighteen months ago I colling the state of the columbus of the columbu
